

Guidelines for Donating Medical Books, Journals, and Media Overseas

The Humanitarian Efforts program of the American Academy of Otolaryngology—Head and Neck Surgery Foundation offers this list of US-based nonprofit organizations that accept donations of medical educational publications. Contact the specific institution or program in advance to make sure it is still accepting materials and that what you have is what they need. Sending inappropriate materials is more harmful than sending none. Plan your shipment by sorting, weeding, and discarding inappropriate materials before sending. Medical and health sciences libraries with books and/or journals to discard may be interested in listing their materials with the Health Literature Exchange service run by the World Health Organization. To learn more about the AAO-HNSF humanitarian program, contact humanitarian@entnet.org or 1-703-535-3738.

Materials needed: new books, journal subscriptions, and special collections including medicine and science. In each country, a designated non-profit partner organization, or affiliate, is responsible for title selection, identification of recipient institutions and countrywide distribution. From inventory lists provided by Sabre via e-mail, partners are able to select titles and quantities. The books and journals are then packed at Sabre's warehouse and sent in ocean freight containers (holding on average over 20,000 books). On-going programs receive between one and three containers per year, depending on the size of the program and available funding. Prospective recipients are encouraged to contact the in-country partner organization for information on obtaining donated books. A list of partner organizations and affiliates is available on Sabre's web site. A charitable organization and a registered private voluntary organization with the US Agency for International Development. Sabre's Scientific Assistance Project specializes in providing educational and professional materials to institutions and individuals in Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union and selected countries in other regions of the world. Since 1986, Sabre Foundation has donated more than three million books and journals overseas. More than 200 US and European publishers have contributed new texts.

Sudan-American Foundation for Education, Inc. \(SAFE\) is a registered nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization (EIN 52-1483483). www.sudan-safe.org Dr. Lee Burchinal, SAFE Executive Director, 3122 Ross Road, Ames, IA 50014

Since 1985, we have delivered over 290,000 books to more than 60 Sudanese libraries, colleges, universities and nongovernmental organizations (NGOs).SAFE operates entirely with volunteers. Officers, directors, and others volunteer their services. There is no paid staff. Financial contributions are used only to pay for operational expenses that cannot be obtained gratis. Our 36th and final shipment of donated books was sent to Sudan in December 2011 for distribution by the Ahfad University for Women to colleges and universities in Sudan and South Sudan. Beginning in 2012, SAFE will support two new activities at colleges and universities in Sudan and South Sudan.

We eagerly seek books in a wide variety of disciplines and fields. We ask you to consider the following selection criteria as you think about books you may donate. In addition, we offer some suggestions for sources of books for donation to SAFE. In making a book donation, you can either ship or deliver books to either of our warehouses, one in Beltsville, MD and the other in Ames, IA. In either case, please contact Dr. Burchinal, executive director of SAFE, for instructions.
