Diversity and Inclusion Committee Charge

Educate and Promote Diversity and inclusion in all its forms including gender, race, religion, socioeconomic status, disability, geographic location, sexual orientation, age, and cultural within our membership and especially in our leadership. Promote cultural sensitivity and competence in concert with other Academy committees first to the membership and medical schools and then to the public for the best treatment of ear, nose, throat, head and neck disease. The committee will also be responsible for the review, validation and approval of requests to survey the AAO-HNS membership on topics related to diversity and inclusion, as assigned.

Grant Intent

The American Academy of Otolaryngology—Head and Neck Surgery Diversity and Inclusion Committee would like to help introduce medical students from under-represented minorities (URM) to the field of otolaryngology. Two grant winners will be selected. The winners will select a program from the list of participating programs to apply for an away rotation. They will receive $1000 to use towards travel, housing or food during their away rotation. They will need to submit receipts in order to receive their reimbursement. They will be required to attend the away rotation. If they do not attend the rotation, they will not receive the award money. During the rotation, the student shall meet with their selected mentor weekly for feedback and guidance. At the end of the away rotation, the awardees must complete an evaluation form.

To be eligible, the medical student must be scheduled to graduate at the end of the 2017-2018 school year, and be a member of an underrepresented minority group. Underrepresented minority is defined by the AMA and AAMC as “those racial and ethnic populations that are underrepresented in the medical profession relative to their numbers in the general population”. This includes traditionally defined underrepresented minority groups, African-Americans, Mexican-Americans, Native Americans (American Indians, Alaska Natives, and Native Hawaiians), and mainland Puerto Ricans, in addition to other minority groups, such as Pacific Islanders from Polynesia, Melanesia and Micronesia.

Participating Programs

The otolaryngology departments of the following programs are committed to assisting underrepresented minority medical students gain exposure to our field. The winners of the Diversity Endowment’s URM Away Rotation Scholarships will be able to apply their scholarship towards supporting an away rotation at any of the following programs. The student will have to arrange for the away rotation themselves. However, once accepted by the program, contact information for a point person within the department will be provided to the student by the Diversity and Inclusion Committee. This point person will help ensure that the weekly mentorship meetings are arranged during the rotation.
