

SUPPORTING THE SPECIALTY:

*Meet Our Academy
Member Donors*

AAO-HNS

foundation

supporting the specialty today and tomorrow

“

You reach a point where it's not just about you anymore. Your legacy and the future of successive generations becomes more the focus.

Eugene G. Brown, MD

Charleston, SC

My reason for giving is to enable the Academy to have the time and money to develop resources to optimize training and learning opportunities. As a resident I had the opportunity to do research through a CORE grant and I want others to have the same opportunity. My contribution is going to touch a lot of lives. It's going to help all those who use these resources.

Betty S. Tsai Do, MD

Oklahoma City, OK

Without our donations to the foundation (the need for which goes well beyond that of dues and corporate support), the Academy could not provide the services and education that are needed to ensure our ability to care to our patients effectively and efficiently.

Spencer C. Payne, MD

Charlottesville, VA

It feels both empowering and unifying to give to the foundation. The work done by the foundation extends the reach and impact of our otolaryngology community. Take a look at our list of donors and see yourself mixed in with this group of folks. WE ARE ONE indeed!

Albert L. Merati, MD

AAO-HNS/F President

Over the years, I have appreciated how the foundation has supported resident global health travel through the Humanitarian Efforts Committee. I can't imagine a better way to build good will for the specialty and support empathy in our trainees. Dues can only do so much. Supporting the foundation builds our OTO community and extends our reach into the world.

Bruce Campbell, MD

Milwaukee, WI

Letter from the Board of Directors, Development Coordinator

Lee D. Eisenberg, MD, MPH

Since 2015, I have served as the Development Coordinator of the AAO-HNS foundation. It has been my honor to contribute to the specialty through volunteer activities and charitable gifts.

I am a Lifetime Donor to the foundation. This has allowed me to give back to the specialty in recognition of all that it has given to me and the many wonderful physician volunteers and Academy staff I have met throughout the years. My contributions to the foundation have helped support the AAO-HNS/F mission in areas particularly important to me including continuing education, research and quality, and grants for residents and young physicians.

In 2017, I established the Eisenberg Leadership Health Policy Travel Grant fund to encourage residents and fellows-in-training to become engaged in the Academy early in their careers. The fund supports three annual travel grants to attend the Spring Leadership Forum and it is my hope that it sets an example of philanthropic giving that others will follow.

Throughout my career, I have enjoyed the interaction with my patients and striving to improve their health. I have known many of my patients for years and enjoyed sharing personal experiences that have made for a better physician-patient relationship. Many of my patients are children and I have seen them grow up, and often then see their children as patients. As one can imagine, this is also a very rewarding experience. Being Development Coordinator has given me an opportunity to meet new people, interact with new colleagues, extol the virtues of becoming a donor, and share the rewards that the specialty has given to me over the years.

Thank you to all of you who have donated to the AAO-HNS foundation over the years. Your financial support is greatly appreciated, and I hope you will continue to donate.

supporting today's programs and initiatives

The AAO-HNS foundation remains steadfast in its commitment to pursuing meaningful, relevant, and impactful quality and research initiatives to ensure optimal patient outcomes well into the future. I would ask each of you to consider a tax-deductible contribution to the Annual Fund to enable the organization to keep moving forward in accomplishing the goals and objectives of the newly formalized Strategic Plan.

Gavin Setzen, MD
AAO-HNS/F Immediate Past-President

We have benefited from the service and financial generosity of otolaryngologists in past generations, and now it is our turn to serve and give back to the specialty through the AAO-HNS foundation.

Mark E. Zafereo, MD
Houston, TX

I have benefited from those who came before me and their investment in the Academy. It seems fitting I give back to help continue the Academy's legacy and invest in its future.

Suki S. Choi, MD
Boston, MA

The importance of giving back to our specialty logically follows: we who have gained so much knowledge, skill, and reward from our teachers have an obligation to do the same for future Otolaryngologists and their patients, to pass on our collective wisdom to future generations. This is the vision of the AAO/HNS foundation, and represents the collective future of our specialty.

Stephen P. Cragle, MD
Saint Cloud, MN

ensuring the future of the specialty

Meet Our New 2018 Millennium Society Lifetime Donors

William R. Bond, Jr., MD, MBA
Washington, D.C.

The Academy has been part of my professional life since I finished my residency—a place that I call “home.” It is part of my family. It is only natural to provide continued support to your family. I felt a donation to the Millennium Society is only a small sacrifice toward repaying the nurturing that the Academy has provided to me for so many years.

Romaine F. Johnson, MD, MPH
Dallas, TX

I became a Lifetime Donor because I want to be a good citizen within the otolaryngology community. Citizenship within the specialty has been good for me. It has enabled me to provide the best care possible for my patients and opportunities through education and research to train future otolaryngologists. I also believe that part of citizenship is to give time and financial resources to improve the experience for all.

Michael Setzen, MD
Great Neck, NY

I contribute to the foundation to support research in otolaryngology, to help otolaryngologists continue to do the good work they do daily, and to support our wonderful specialty in continuing to improve patient care. I think it is critical that every otolaryngologist give back whatever they can afford so the foundation and the Academy can continue to strive for excellence in all aspects of otolaryngology and in enhancing patient care.

The AAO-HNS foundation sincerely thanks our major donors for creating a tradition of giving back to the specialty and in supporting the foundation’s mission centric programs and initiatives, today and tomorrow.
