Diversity and Inclusion Committee Charge

Educate and promote diversity and inclusion in all its forms including gender, race, religion, socioeconomic status, disability, geographic location, sexual orientation, age, and cultural within our membership and especially in our leadership. Promote cultural sensitivity and competence in concert with other Academy committees first to the membership and medical schools and then to the public for the best treatment of ear, nose, throat, head and neck disease.

Grant Intent

The American Academy of Otolaryngology—Head and Neck Surgery Diversity and Inclusion Committee would like to help introduce medical students from under-represented minorities (URM) to the field of otolaryngology. Two grant winners will be selected. The winners will select a program from the list of participating programs to apply for an away rotation. They will receive $1000 to use towards travel, housing or food during their away rotation. They will be required to attend the away rotation. If they do not attend the rotation, they will not receive the award money. During the rotation, the student shall meet with their selected mentor weekly for feedback and guidance. At the end of the away rotation, the awardees must complete an evaluation form.

To be eligible, the medical student must be scheduled to graduate at the end of the 2021 school year, and be a member of an underrepresented minority group. Underrepresented minority is defined by the AMA and AAMC as “those racial and ethnic populations that are underrepresented in the medical profession relative to their numbers in the general population”. This includes traditionally defined underrepresented minority groups, African-Americans, Latino-Americans, Native Americans (American Indians, Alaska Natives, and Native Hawaiians), and mainland Puerto Ricans, in addition to other minority groups, such as Pacific Islanders from Polynesia, Melanesia and Micronesia.

Participating Programs

The otolaryngology departments of the programs listed on the following pages are committed to assisting underrepresented minority medical students gain exposure to our field. The recipients of the Diversity Endowment’s URM Away Rotation Grants will be able to apply their grant towards supporting an away rotation at any of the following programs. The student will have to arrange for the away rotation themselves. Additional scholarship or stipends listed will be provided by the institution - the applicant will be responsible for applying for any additional participating program stipend, and any additional stipends will be granted at the sole discretion of the program. The contact person will help ensure that the weekly mentorship meetings are arranged during the rotation.
